Manager of Instruction @ Rightworks | Training & Development,
Culture Development, Educational Psychology
Ferndale, Michigan, United States

Summary

As the Manager of Instruction at Rightworks, I lead the design and delivery of strategic, innovative, and engaging courses and curricula for accounting firm leaders and teams nationwide. With over 15 years of experience in education, leadership, public speaking, and psychology, I have developed a diverse and distinctive skill set that enables me to empower business owners and their staff to achieve their full potential and find fulfillment in their work.

I'm deeply passionate about promoting equitable and efficient workplaces where everyone thrives. I have been actively involved in advocating for social justice initiatives and Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) in both educational and professional settings. Earning my Professional Certificate in Supervisory Management from Michigan State University has enhanced my ability to coach and mentor others in developing their leadership and management skills while managing effective and successful teams. I believe that every challenge and opportunity in life offers a chance for growth and transformation, and I'm committed to sharing my insights and expertise with others who share this vision.
